FOREWORD

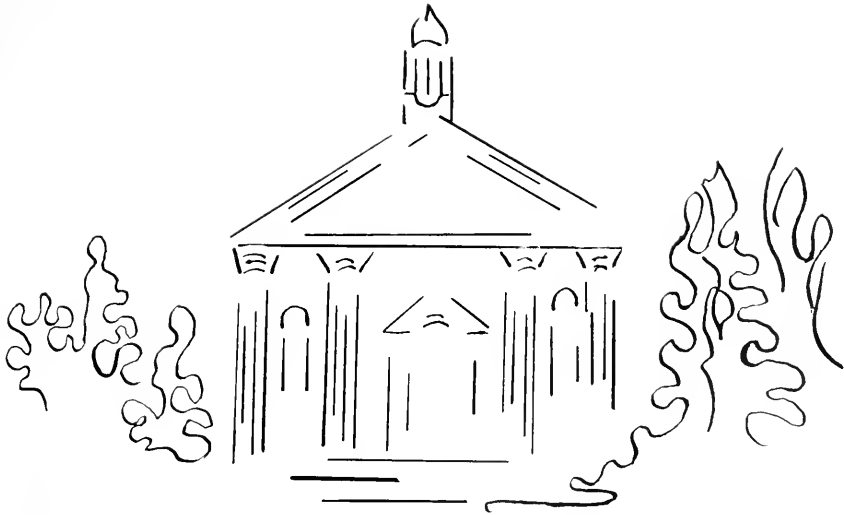

Through its pages, the 1960 BLUE-STOCKING invites you to look to the future of Mary Baldwin College while acknowledging its past.

One may easily view the contrast between the buildings that compose the campus of today with those that were formerly used—yet 1960 offers the excitement of the possibility to envision the completed construction of the architectural plans of the enlarged and expanding campus of tomorrow.

PATRICIA HOLBERT MENK, PH.D.
Associate Professor of History

DEDICATION

She is the epitome of the result of womanhood combined with intellectual pursuit. As such she is a living example of the BLUESTOCKING spirit. To her students she stands as an ideal for which they may strive—homemaker, mother, and a person endowed with an unusual enthusiasm for learning. In her hands history becomes alive as a part of man's heritage and his present situation. For her vitality as a person, her high standards as a professor, and her attainment as an ideal woman—

Student Government

SUE WARFIELD
President

Student government on any college campus should be viewed as a central part of the educational process, both in the training that it gives to those students directly participating in it and in the contributions it makes to the institution's educational objectives. Student Government at Mary Baldwin has been proven over the years and has become an indispensable part of the college community.

The governmental structure consists of three branches: the Student Board, which is the central co-ordinating and legislative body; the House Presidents' Council, which concerns itself mainly with the students' problems of personal adjustment as individuals, and the Judiciary Board, the student court, which constantly endeavors to instill in the students the ideals of the Honor System.

The Student Government officers serving on these three branches represent the student body in many capacities and have as their goal the integration and evaluation of the college program in every respect. Student government's projects and goals must be constantly broadened to meet the needs of new student generations.

The broad objective of our Student Government Association is to encourage the individual in the college community to develop her full potentialities. This task is the challenge which we accept and try to meet to the best of our abilities.

Throughout the year, certain phases of the Student Government program were evaluated and revised such as student government election procedures, and the budgets of various Student Government organizations.

Other matters of business included the conference held at Mary Baldwin in which neighboring women's colleges participated. Its main objective was the discussion of problems common to the various colleges, plus efforts to find out the structure or organization of other Student Government Associations. Foreseeing the changes which necessarily will occur in the future as Mary Baldwin has increased enrollment, the Student Government Association made efforts to provide some sound plan to be used in the future.

Delegates were sent to all NSA regional conferences and to the National Congress. Suggestions and recommendations for the improvement of numerous phases of college activity were channelled through Student Government giving a voice to student opinion. It was an active year for all Student Government committees and organizations.

Executive Committee

The Executive Committee is composed of the President of the Student Government Association, the Vice-President of the Student Government Association, the Chairman of the Judiciary Board, and the Chairman of the House Presidents' Council.

The Committee may be regarded as the central committee for planning and organizing Student Government activity; the Committee recommends projects to the Student Board and attempts to bring to the Board's attention matters of concern to that body; another of its duties is the review of the student budget for each year.

The Executive Committee also works along with the Faculty Advisory Board and acts as the voice of the student body in any matters which are of concern to the students.

Through its regular meetings the committee attempts to evaluate the state of affairs at the time and makes plans for future activity of the Student Government Association.

Judiciary Board

The Judiciary Board, a branch of Student Government, is the student court at Mary Baldwin. Composed of representatives from each class, the board meets regularly to consider rule infractions and violations of the honor system. In a sense, however, it is more than a court, for its highest goal is to instill in Mary Baldwin students the ideals of the honor system. Under this honor system, a student is responsible for her own actions and for those of others. Should she violate a rule, she is honor bound to report her infraction to a member of the Judiciary Board. She also pledges to encourage others to do the same.

The honor system is more than a set of rules; it is a way of living harmoniously in a college community. The Judiciary Board is instrumental in seeing that the honor system remains an effective method of student government.

House Presidents' Council

PEGGY CREIGHTON
Chairman

The House Presidents' Council is composed of the ten dormitory presidents who are elected by the student body. They elect their chairman who serves as their representative on Student Board and on the Executive Committee.

The council is primarily interested in making every dormitory a happy and comfortable college home. This year the council planned a uniform policy for all the dormitories which emphasized courtesy as the basis for happy dormitory living. The House Presidents also prepared a booklet entitled "House Hints," to help acquaint freshmen with dormitory life, rules, and regulations.

The group meets twice a month to discuss mutual problems and various ideas. Through house meetings these ideas and points of interest are then related to the students.

Each House President also serves as chairman of her dormitory council, elected by the members of the dormitory. The members of the House Council meet once a week to solve individual problems and discuss ways of maintaining an ideal dormitory spirit of friendship and cooperation.

Throughout the year the House Presidents serve as a group and in individual capacities to help make the college community a better place in which to live.

Social Committee

The Social Committee endeavors to integrate the social activities on M. B. C. campus with a dash of humor and enjoyment. Throughout the year the committee strives to organize dances and parties as well as sponsor enthusiasm and backing for spontaneous parties.

The Social Committee successfully planned two informal dances in the months of October and November, a Fireside Coffee Hour and an informal dance at Ingleside Country Club for the Christmas Dance weekend, and a semi-formal dance after the May Day Pageant. In February unknown to the students the committee planned and decorated the tables in the dining room for a surprise birthday party. The Social Committee combined efforts on an intercollegiate cultural and exchange program.

Board of Review

As a Student Government organization the Board of Review's purpose is to lead each student in varied areas of student life—social, literary, religious, and residential. The Board is composed of five students and four faculty members.

The duties of the Board include studying and evaluating the procedures and programs of club organizations on campus, scheduling all campus events approving all money-making projects, evaluating the point system, and planning and scheduling Friday assembly programs.

National Student Association

The United States National Student Association is a confederation of student bodies of 400 American colleges and universities represented through their democratically elected student governments. NSA strives to represent accurately the interests, problems, and aspirations of the American student. It also provides an opportunity for exchange of ideas on a national scale, a democratic voice of the American student in national and international affairs, and many concrete services such as low cost student travel to all parts of the world. Through travel, studying abroad, and the International Student Conference, NSA maintains liaison with student groups and individual students all over the world.

Day Student Organization

The Day Student Organization of Mary Baldwin, made up of all regular classified day students, is like other clubs in structure, but it is a part of the Student Government and is represented on the Student Board by the president of the organization.

The purpose of the group is to encourage Day Student participation in campus activities. Some of the projects undertaken by the members of the group have included leadership in the Western State service and the Christian Association Christmas projects for the underprivileged children of Staunton.

An open-house at Christmas in the Day Student lounge on the first floor of McClung—was one of the highlights of the year.

Studio Book Store

The Studio Book Store has completed its second year of operation as a branch of the Student Government Association. The bookstore operates under the Honor System and is directed by a Committee appointed by the Student Board (Dr. Brice serves as the Faculty Advisor). This is a paperback bookstore with everything from "Plato" to "Pogo". Many books for courses as well as the Independent Reading Program are sold here.

Club Committee

The Club Committee members have many varied duties to perform. Their jobs range from "clean-up man" to "supply man". With the new Macke machines their task has been enlarged by the necessity to encourage others to clean up the Club. This was begun in the fall by a large-scale campaign with posters.

The Club Committee also provides ashtrays, cards, and other things which make the Club a more comfortable place in which to relax.

Curriculum Committee

The Curriculum Committee evaluates courses offered at Mary Baldwin in order to realize in what ways they can be improved. This group in conference with representatives of the various fields of study has suggested needed courses and improvements in existing ones. The committee, consisting of five students, works in congress with the Faculty Curriculum Committee to express student opinion on methods and developments in the liberal arts and to offer more balanced and stimulating courses of study.

Last Lecture Committee

The Last Lecture Series was created in order to present to the student body an accumulation of ideas formed by a specific professor. This lecture essentially contains the speaker's highly valued concepts which he wishes to clarify and enumerate.

The Last Lecture Committee consists of three people who choose the speaker, set the time for the lecture, and see that the series is publicized.

The Christian Association

One of the most vital and all encompassing of the campus organizations is the Christian Association. Each student is entitled to membership in the association and all are asked to serve on one of the committees. The committees are under four commissions: service, worship, fellowship and study. The president of all the denominational groups as well as the commission chairman sit on the council. In the unity of this body all activities for the Christian life and development of the student body are planned and coordinated. The highlight of the year is Religious Emphasis Week in February, when the students look at themselves in the light of their aspirations and gain in inspiration and knowledge of the whole Christian Community.

The Fine Arts Club exists in order to stimulate interest in the fields of art, music, dance, and drama. Programs featuring these various aspects are held throughout the year. Ideas and views on church and secular music, variations of dance, types of theatre, and philosophy of art have been presented. Special concerts and receptions for visiting performers have helped to fill the school calendar with cultural and widening events.

Although the members of this organization keep the significance of the name a closely guarded secret, about their work much more is known.

The 402 Workshop group is devoted to the creative writing efforts of its members and to a critical analysis of these works. The highly informal meetings are held twice a month in Dr. Marshall Brice's apartment, where tape recordings of the members' works are often made.

The highlight of this year was a meeting with Dean Kantak. The members served as guest editors for the fall issue of the Miscellany.

The International Relations Club is an organization whose aim is to inform and interest the student body in international affairs. IRC is an affiliate of the Collegiate Council of the United Nations, which is in turn connected with the American Association of the United Nations.

Speakers for the meetings throughout the year have been selected from the faculty, student body, and others interested in international and national affairs. Through meetings with other schools the club has received much information about programing.

Clubs

Literary Club

Reading for pleasure as well as profit might well be stated as the aim of the Literary Club. All types of literary works, including magazine articles pertaining to literature, are read and informally discussed by club members. Of special interest this year was a meeting with Dr. Vaman Y. Kantak of the University of Baroda, India who led a discussion on "Symbolism in Modern Poetry."

The Tri-Beta is a national biological society with the Alpha Pi chapter on the Mary Baldwin campus. A genuine interest in biology and scientific truth, a specified academic average, and ten hours of biology are the requirements for active membership.

The bi-weekly programs are designed to broaden interest and increase knowledge in biological sciences and related fields. This year, in addition to the scheduled programs and trips, the organization published an alumnae bulletin containing news of the Biology Department and began the re-labeling of trees on campus.

Cotillion Club

The formation of the Cotillion Club began in the spring of 1958 with a membership drive covering all students. Over the summer each incoming freshman was invited to join.

The function of the Cotillion Club is to have at least two dances per year. In the fall they had a concert with the Talbot Brothers of Bermuda, music was furnished by Lester Lanin for the Christmas Dance, and in the spring a Combo Party at Crafton's.

A mutual interest in various phases of handiwork is the basis for the "sewing circle" type meetings of the Hobbies and Crafts Club. Making and decorating felt Christmas stockings for the children of the Effie Ann Johnson Day Nursery was the first group project of the year. In February the members bound books for the library. New skills in knitting and crocheting have been developed.

The sign of the Eta Beta is no longer a big white apron, now it is a big yellow pinafore—usually missing several buttons. Hurrying through the dining room to distribute a loaded tray to the starving hundreds, the Eta Beta is the brunt of all dietary complaints, is feared for her wrath, and loved for her "extra" desserts.

After each meal back they go to the Little Dining Room where they enjoy a sometimes hectic, always interesting meal of double helpings.

Choir

The Choir of Mary Baldwin College has as its chief function the duty of participating in chapel each Tuesday and Thursday, adding to the atmosphere of worship through the medium of music. In addition to this, the original purpose for the establishment of the choir, the organization has served the college in other ways, such as publicity tours. This year the choir gave a joint concert with The Princeton Glee Club, sang at the National Cathedral in Washington, and participated in the Evensong Service at St. Thomas Episcopal Church in New York City and has sung at several services in Staunton Churches. The Choir presented as its annual Christmas program, "Amahl and the Night Visitors". The choir consists of approximately 45 members who meet for an hour's practice four days a week.

The purposes of the Publication Board are to increase efficiency of the staffs of member publications, promote uniformity, and co-ordinate information. Editors, business managers, and faculty advisors of the Campus Comments, the BLUESTOCKING, and the Miscellany compose the membership of the Board.

The chairman of the Board of Publications is a voting member of Student Board. The biggest job of the year was, as usual, debating and dividing the Student Government budget allotment between the three publications.

BLUESTOCK

This one volume of the BLUESTOCKING represents the activity of an entire school year in pictures of classes, organizations, social functions, and daily life. Each day was new and different, but now these days have become only pleasant memories.

The first issue of our annual appeared in 1891 under the title of THE AUGUSTA SEMINARY ANNUAL. When the name of the school was changed to Mary Baldwin Seminary, the title of the annual became THE ANNUAL OF MARY BALDWIN SEMINARY. In 1899 the name was changed again to THE MARY BALDWIN SOUVENIR, and in 1902 the permanent title became THE BLUESTOCKING, which was adapted from the 18th century literary society known as the Bluestocking Club. At these literary meetings in London the leading

This year was the first year that the editors were elected by the Student Government Association. The staff has been ably directed by Betsy Burton and Rinda-Mary Payne; also much appreciation is due to Miss Fannie Strauss, the faculty sponsor and advisor, for her guidance.

In November the staff was represented at the Associated Collegiate Press Association conference in New York City. THE BLUESTOCKING holds membership in the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association and the Associated Collegiate Press.

The staff hopes that everyone will always regard this BLUESTOCKING as a symbol that represents the intangible spirit of college life and will recall through it the pleasant memories of the year 1959-60.

BETTY ENGLE—Editor

Campus Comments, the College weekly newspaper, endeavored during the scholastic term to continue to meet the standards and goals reached by the last year's staff.

The staff, under the leadership of Editor-in-chief Betty Engle and Business Manager Sally Armstrong, have strived to present up-to-date, interesting news.

The paper's exchange program this year includes All-American and First Class award-winning papers (given by the Associated Collegiate Press) and various Virginia college newspapers. A special rack is provided for these papers in the Browsing Room of the Library. From these exchange issues and from the Intercollegiate Press Bulletin comes the information found in the column, "Cross Campus".

Attention-holding features have been contained in the twenty issues of the paper. Humor, as well as interviews with the faculty, staff, and administration, have been some of the topics of these features. Cartoons are correlated with news stories, editorials and situations on campus. A more comprehensive coverage on sports events has been emphasized.

The Laurel Society, the campus leadership organization worked closely with the Campus Comments staff by conducting polls and featuring them in the issues. These polls covered a variety of aspects of the College Life.

Campus Comments is a member of the Associated Collegiate Press, Intercollegiate Press and the Virginia Press Association. Last year's publication received First Class and All-American Honor ratings for first and second semesters, respectively.

Miscellany

Every school needs a medium through which literary creativity can be presented. It is with this aim that the Miscellany has existed since 1899. The magazine contains stories, poems, essays, and articles on various subjects to entertain, and to present new ideas and new viewpoints. The 1959-1960 academic year witnessed a remarkable change in shape—a new look. Over and above this were the works of numerous students interested in creative writing. A school-wide contest was held during the year to encourage literary efforts. Members of the 402 Workshop and the Laurel Society served as guest editors to the Miscellany.

Public Relations

The public relations of any college is a vital part of the success of the institution. At Mary Baldwin the News Bureau is the channel through which much of the information of the college is released to the public.

Located in the "catacombs" along with the Alumnae and Development offices, the News Bureau is directed by Mrs. Dolores Lescure, who describes her position as "editor-at-large on the Mary Baldwin Campus."

Among the most routine stories released to the home town papers are those of the elections, honors, recitals, clubs, and visits from parents. Files are kept of each student and her activities and are used as the occasion arises.

Feature stories such as Apple Day, Founders's Day, and the various angles on dances, plays, and May Day add color to the picture of life at Mary Baldwin received by the public. Yet the emphasis is always on the real facts about the happenings of the college.

The opportunity for creating good will for the college throughout Virginia and the rest of the United States and several foreign countries is a great one for the News Bureau and one which is constantly a challenge to those who work in public relations.

Laurel Society

The Laurel Society exists for the purpose of recognizing and promoting student leadership. It was organized in the Spring of 1958 by a joint faculty-student committee, and is now entirely student directed.

Candidates are elected to the society on the basis of leadership, character, scholarship, and service. This year two tapings were held.

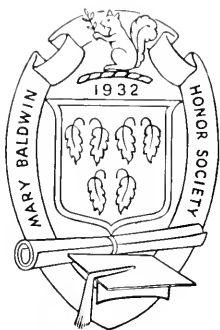

The Laurel has undertaken several projects this year. Polls were taken for the purpose of exploiting student opinion in various areas of campus activities. Among these were polls on the Independent Reading Program and the Tuition Plan. The society also recognized those students at the Quarter with no grade less than B, and had special tables at dinner for those on the Dean's List at the end of the first semester.

Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award

Each year at commencement the New York Southern Society and Mary Baldwin College present the Algernon Sydney Sullivan medallions to those who have achieved outstanding accomplishments through unselfish service. This quality of unselfishness in serving was characteristic in the life of Algernon Sydney Sullivan in whose honor the award is made. The medallions are usually presented to a member of the graduating class and to some other person who has interest in and association with the College.

For dedication to the ideal of unselfish service as a member of the World Service Council of the Young Women's Christian Association; for devotion, as a Director of Wainwright House International, to the principle that friendship among men must know no national boundaries; for a depth of spirit out of which flower the motivating force primarily responsible for the Meditation Room of the United Nations; for a nobility of character inspiring to all students and fellow alumnae of her alma mater, Mary Baldwin College presents to Elizabeth Camp Ebbott the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award for 1959.

Coupled with unusual native endowments is her unselfish willingness to submerge her interests in the wider interests of the college community. The firm integrity of her Christian character, the pliant strength of her personality, the quietly challenging efficiency with which she assumes the mantle of leadership, and the self-effacing cooperation which she unfailingly displays toward others—all these combine to single out one who has long been recognized for her outstanding scholarship.

In recognition of the sterling qualities of her character and in anticipation of a life richly filled with additional service, Mary Baldwin College presents to Carraleigh Ann Singletary the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award for 1959.

Russell Scholar

Academic achievements, outstanding character, and service on the campus are qualities required in the Margaret Kable Russell Scholar. This award was established in 1953 by the Board of Trustees and the Alumnae Association to honor the late Margaret Kable Russell. Each year the faculty elects a member of the Junior or Senior Class whom they feel is qualified for this honor. The award is made at Commencement.

Who's Who

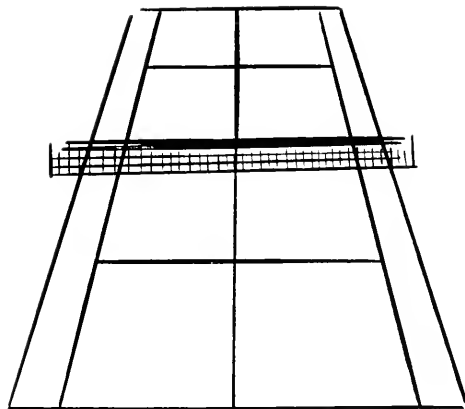

Selection to appear in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities is a high honor bestowed upon certain Mary Baldwin seniors. The senior class makes the nominations which are confirmed by the college. The total enrollment determines the number each college may nominate. Those selected to Who's Who complete elaborate questionnaires which are filed with the publisher and are available to prospective employers and other interested persons.

The Recreation Association

MERYL RICHARDSON
President

The purpose of the Mary Baldwin Recreation Association is to develop interest and participation in a diversified program of recreational activities, to promote a spirit of co-operation and fellowship within campus life.

All students of the college are members of the association provided they participate in at least one of the intramural sports during the year. Each new member is invited to become a member of the Scotch or Irish Clan.

Activities begin in the fall with a picnic at the Hockey Field at which Clan bids are given out around a large bonfire. The Hockey season begins the sports year in September and this year came to a glorious close with two of our star players being picked for the Blue Ridge Field Hockey team. The winter sports include basketball, volleyball and recreational sports such as badminton, ping-pong, and bowling. During exams the R. A. recognizes the girl accumulating the most hours in recreational sports as the Rec of the Week.

Tennis marks the highlight for the spring and this year M. B. C. celebrated her first year as a member of the Middle Atlantic Lawn Tennis Association by holding the first Southern Collegiate Women's tournament on campus, this is hoped to become a perennial activity sponsored by M. B. C. The R. A. also includes the outing club, which sponsors hikes, skiing, and skating trips in its activities, the sky-scrapers, and is in charge of Chip Inn.

In May the R. A. reach their height in the R. A. banquet. At this time the plaque is presented to the clan with the best record and the outstanding members are recognized.

The association plans its program with the primary emphasis upon enjoyable recreation and feels that participation whether active or as a spectator is more important than the winning of the game.

Dolphins

An Annual pageant of synchronized swimming is presented by the Dolphin Club of Mary Baldwin. Its aim is the achievement of grace, rhythm, and precision through creative expression and a knowledge of water skills.

The Club opened its season in September with a "Splash Party" for the freshmen which was soon followed by tryouts. Then on March 10 and 11 the twenty members presented the Water Pageant. "Broadway Bubbles" was an aquatic interpretation of various melodies from popular Broadway plays with a final salute to Broadway set to the rhythm of "Oklahoma".

College Marshals

Beauty and grace are primary attributes of the College Marshals. The chief marshal is elected by the entire student body, and the other marshals are elected by their respective classes.

The marshals serve as hostesses at school functions, always doing their best to please the students and guests of the college by seating them and aiding in many other small ways to see that the programs run smoothly.

Seated: MARGIE WOODSON, PATSY BALLOU

The college ushers are selected by the marshals to serve with them at important college events such as the King Series, the Christmas program, various plays and concerts, and Commencement Weekend. To be chosen an usher is definitely an honor, but it also entails poise, courtesy, and hard work.
